EDUCATION

B.Sc. Dietetics (PMB Natal)

“The decision to study dietetics was always driven by my interest in food. As I developed my knowledge in the field, I became more aware of my passion for understanding the food we eat and how it is produced. Being part of a team such as FACTS, which connects ideas and solutions with the challenges that face our customers, is exciting. I am privileged to say that my work is my interest.”

EXPERIENCE & SKILLS

- Client relationship management
- Project management
- Knowledge about food regulations, food analysis, food allergens and aspects of allergen and species control
- Partnership relationship management

PROFILE

Carine is a dietitian who has always had an interest in the food industry - and in particular, in the journey of the food we eat. With this in mind, it did not take long for her to leave private practice and start working in the food industry.

She started out managing the Heart Mark at the Heart & Stroke Foundation. Here, she began building relationships with members of the food industry. She has had the privilege of working with a variety of food industry clients, from small to large.

Carine's professional interests include the integrity of food products and the development of the FACTS services offering to the food industry - and how these two interests can make a difference, by connecting ideas to bring about success for FACTS clients and longevity for FACTS.

Her other passions are mountain biking and the outdoor lifestyle.
